‘Sgwennu Stori’ Competition 2022

Please see below a message from BBC Radio Wales regarding their competition ‘Sgwennu Stori’. You are welcome to complete this task as additional home work over the half term holidays, if you wish:

Aled Hughes’ radio show, BBC Radio Wales, is holding their ‘Sgwennu Stori’ competition once again in 2022 for primary school pupils across Wales.

We are calling on pupils to write a short story, no more than 500 words, on the topic ‘Y Gyfrinach/ The Secret’.

The applications will be judged on the basis of the following criteria:

Originality, Plot, Characters, Language, Enjoyment.

The closing date is March 3rd 2022, which is World Book Day. Aled will announce the winner on March 31st 2022, where the winner will receive a gift from the Books Council of Wales, as well as a digital cover designed for their story which will appear in the Urdd magazine.

If you would like to compete, please send your short stories to mailbox@plascochpri.wrexham.sch.uk by Monday February 28th 2022.

At the top of each story, please clearly note the pupils stage name and the name of the school.
